

Safety and security ecosystem

We build and connect safety and security technologies. Our ecosystem supports the collaboration needed between public safety and enterprises to help protect people, property and places. Because people and technology are stronger when united. Provide greater safety and efficiency for your community with the most trusted, integrated, and seamless solutions.

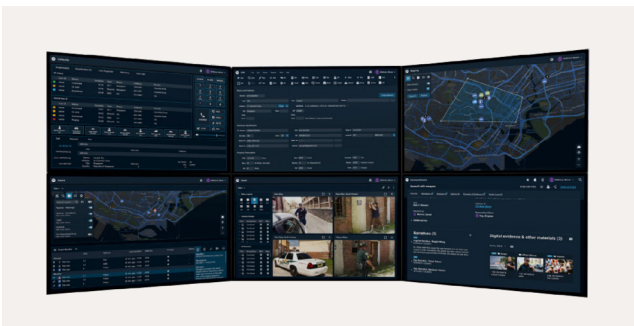

Critical communications

We make critical communications devices and networks that perform in the harshest conditions and are proven to help you stay connected and communicate with clarity.

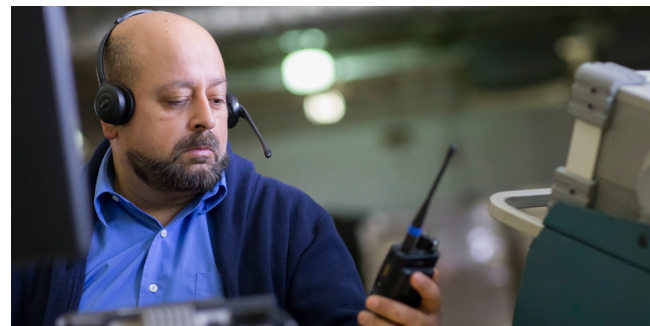

Video security & access control

We unify voice, video and data feeds into the command center, connecting the dots to simplify workflows and help provide the overarching perspective to make decisions with greater focus, accuracy and speed.

Command center software

We design video security systems powered by responsibly built AI that can alert you when action is needed, focusing human attention to cover more ground and act with more certainty.

Managed & support services

We provide managed and support services with an 'always-on' rigor to keeping your technology secure, optimized and current with innovative advancements, for confident operational performance.
